1975 OUTSTANDING TREE FARM AWARD GOES TO BETHEL COMPANY

A forest-oriented family dynasty dating back to 1634 has won the 1975 Maine Outstanding Tree Farm Award. P. H. Chadbourne and Company of Bethel received the award at the annual Maine State Grange meeting held at Augusta Oct. 23.

The Company owns and manages 33,000 acres of forest land in western Maine and is well known for their intensive forest management program, especially white pine management. The Company operates a sawmill in Bethel with annual production of 7.5 million board feet.

The Chadbourne Tree Farm is the largest to receive the award to date. The award is made on the basis of quality of workmanship rather than size of ownership.

Philip H. Chadbourne is President of the Company and he is assisted by his sons: Bob, Manager, Land Division; Ted, Manager, Lumber Division; and Tom, Manager, Vermont Weatherboard. Al Bancroft of Paris Hill is Manager of the Construction Division. Managing such a large tract, located in several towns, is a time consuming effort and Bob Chadbourne is assisted in this task by Foresters Richard Waldron and John Laban. Waldron has been with the Company since 1945. Tom Kennagh has responsibility for continued on Page Five

COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

The James W. Sewall Co., Old Town, reports that the revaluation project for which the town contracted is 40% complete. The supervisor of the project has expressed assurance that the contract will be completed within the time schedule.

Voters that are unable to go to the polls to vote on Nov. 4 may now come to the Town Office and vote by absentee ballot. Polls will open at 10 a. m. and close at 8 p. m. at the Fire Station. It is customary when a vacancy occurs in the position of Town Manager, who also serves as treasurer and collector, to have an audit. A cash audit was conducted by the State Dept. of Audit covering the period from Jan. 1 to Sept. 30. Their report has been received and is on file at the Town Office and is available for public inspection.

BICENTENNIAL COMMITTEE EXPANDS SURVEY

The Bethel Bicentennial Committee's Recreation Survey has been expanded to include door-to-door delivery in East and West Bethel. Gloria Snyder will handle the distribution of the questionnaires in West Bethel village and Loretta Merrill will be responsible for the Flat Road.

In East Bethel the coordinator is Mary Lee Haines and in Middle Intervale, Marie Wilson. It is hoped that all questionnaires will be returned by Friday, Nov. 7 with publication of the results in the near future.

Anyone who does not receive a questionnaire may obtain one at the Bethel Town Office, by phoning Cathy Newell at 824-2089 or they may indicate responses on the copy of the questionnaire printed in the Citizen and mail the clipping to the Bethel Bicentennial Committee, or drop it in the collection box at the Bethel P. O. (Survey form on Page 11.)

Cross appeared in this list which was an error as he had already paid his dog tax. Our apologies for causing him this embarrassment.

The Board of Selectmen have received 22 applications for the position of town manager, plus four resumes from the New England Municipal Center job bank.

In this issue of The Citizen there is an ad for interested persons to apply for the position of grader operator in the Highway Dept. for the winter months. Also the ad asks for applications from persons interested in working part time and being on call to work for the Highway Dept. during the winter months during stormy weather.

S. A. D. 44 BOARD NAMES SPORTS COACHES FOR WINTER SEASON, MONDAY

The board of directors of M. S. A. D. #44 held a special meeting at the Telstar Auditorium on Monday evening of this week.

An executive session of the board, lasting one hour and forty minutes during which time a closed hearing regarding disciplinary charges involving a Telstar student was held, preceded the public portion of the meeting.

In the public portion of the meeting, it was the decision of the board to expel a 15 year old Telstar student in the interest of the possibility that a more structured total environment would be of benefit to the youngster involved.

In other business, the board approved the employment of Barbara Lever as a teacher at the Andover Elementary School. Her duties will be divided between teaching kindergarten and being involved in a Title I program at the school. Miss Lever is a 1975 graduate of the University of Maine at Orono and is from Auburn.

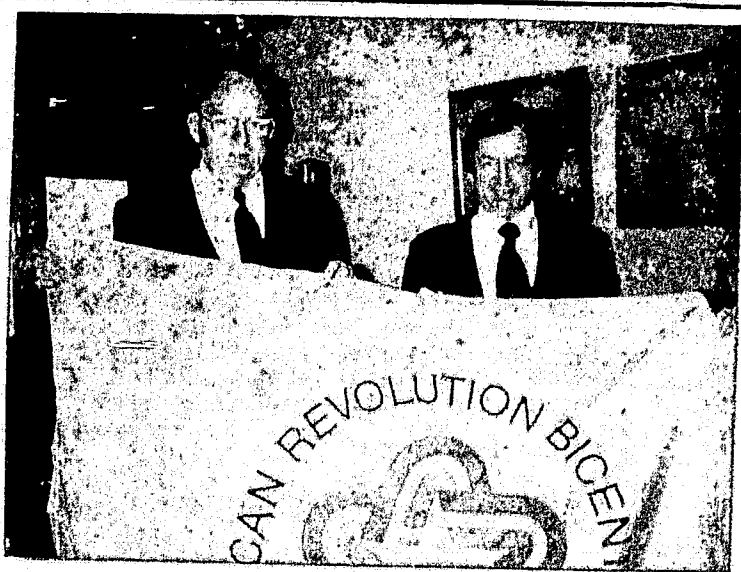

Timothy Kavanagh was approved as teacher of Art at Telstar Regional High School. He holds a B. A. in Art from Jamestown (N. D.) College, graduating in 1973. Mr. Kavanagh has no previous teaching experience, and presently resides in Albany.

The board approved the following coaches and assistant coaches for the Telstar winter sports season: Basketball head coach (boys), Bruce Buckland; Assistant Basketball (boys), Bill Morton; Girls' basketball, Gail Fletcher; Head varsity skiing (boys), Tim LaVallee; Assistant skiing (boys), Dan Hannon; Girls' skiing, Robert Remington.

It was the decision of the board not to consider a redefinition of the role of drug counselor at Telstar. An agenda item sought reinstatement of the position with special emphasis on enforcement.

The Bethel Health and Service Council, Inc. is looking for a resident of Bethel or one of the towns represented in S. A. D. 44 to serve on the Board of Directors of the Council. The article also stated that many people in the area were interested in getting involved in local health care planning. Here's your chance. We'd like to have your help in planning future health projects for Bethel and surrounding towns. Please call Jane Barth (824-2931), secretary or Connie Hindman, president (824-2920) if you're interested. We must fill this vacancy and we'd like a vitally interested person. Call us now.

RED CROSS BLOOD DRAWING CLINIC PLANNED

The local chapter of the American Red Cross serving area communities is preparing for the next blood drawing drive, scheduled for Nov. 24.

The Red Cross bank has the aim and expertise to supply safe and efficient use of blood given. One example is red cell transfusions are superior to whole blood in the treatment of patients with heart, liver or kidney diseases requiring restricted sodium, potassium and citrate intake.

Meeting the quotas for this area assures the replacement of blood for any local resident even if hospitalized, for instance, in Boston or at a greater distance. All that is required is a call to the local Red Cross chapter.

LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS — SPECIAL ELECTION EXPLANATION

The League of Women Voters, a non-partisan organization, believes that democratic government depends upon the informed and active participation of its citizens. Nov. 4 the voters of the State will have the opportunity to vote on two referendum questions and five constitutional amendments. The explanation of these questions should allow everyone to voice his feelings on these issues, and make his wishes known by his vote. The League of Women Voters urges all citizens to know the facts and vote!

Referendum Question No. 1
"Shall an act, passed by the 107th Legislature, authorizing the renovation of housing for the University of Maine and the issuing of bonds in the amount of $900,000, to be repaid by student housing fees, be accepted?"

"Shall the Constitution be amended as proposed by a Resolution of the Legislature to abolish the Executive Council and to Reassign its Constitutional Powers to the Governor and the Legislature, to Eliminate the Office of Notary Public as a Constitutional Office and to Prohibit Appointment of Legislators to Offices Requiring Approval of the Legislature for Appointment?"

Proposed Constitutional Amendment No. 5
"Shall the Constitution be amended as proposed by a resolution of the Legislature to provide for annual sessions of the Legislature with limits on the matters which may be considered in the second regular session of each biennium and to change the date of the convening of the Legislature?"

The polls shall be opened at 10:00 a. m. and close at 8:00 p. m. The registrar of voters or board of registration will hold office hours while the polls are open member districts by the Legislature that convenes in 1983 and every ten years thereafter;

(2) Beginning in 1983 and every ten years after, the Legislature shall divide the State into single-member senatorial districts.

(3) The Legislature that has responsibility of dividing the state into districts will appoint an apportionment commission which will develop the plan for apportioning the districts within ninety (90) days after the convening of the next Legislature. This commission will be composed of six (6) members of the House, four (4) members of the Senate; and three (3) members from the public.

Proposed Constitutional Amendment No. 2
"Shall the Constitution be amended as proposed by a resolution of the 107th Legislature to establish filing date for initiative and referendum petitions; clarify when the effective date of a bill is suspended by the filing of a referendum petition; clarify the process of calling a special election for an initiative or referendum vote; limit legislative amendment and repeal of laws initiated or approved by the people; clarify the petition process; and provide for review of the validity of petitions?"

The intention of this amendment is to clarify initiative and referendum petition procedures. From the Secretary of State's official explanation, it provides for referendum legislation be filed in the office of the Secretary of State by 5:00 p. m. on the nineteenth day (90th) after the recess of the Legislature, or if that day is Saturday, Sunday or legal holiday, by 5:00 p. m. on the preceding day which is not a Saturday, Sunday or legal holiday. A petition initiating legislation must be filed in the office of the Secretary of State by 5:00 p. m. on the fiftieth (50th) day after the convening of the Legislature in regular session.

The effective date of any Act, bill resolve or resolution or part or parts thereof contained in a referendum petition are suspended when the petition is filed. Allows the Secretary of State to call for a special election to recall or initiate legislation if the Governor fails to do so.

Petitions to recall newly enacted legislation must be submitted to municipal officials, to determine whether the signers of the petition are qualified voters, by 5:00 p. m. on the fifth (5th) day before the petition must be filed in the office of the Secretary of State.

State and petitions to initiate legislation must be filed by 5:00 p. m. on the third (3rd) day prior to that day. Petitions must be returned within two (2) days after such submissions.

The Legislature may also enact laws to clarify the petition process, including provisions for judicial review.

Proposed Constitutional Amendment No. 3
"Shall the Constitution be amended as proposed by a resolution of the Legislature to provide for determination of the inability of the Governor to discharge the powers and duties of his office?"

This proposed amendment provides a means to determine the procedure to govern the State of Maine if the Governor is unable to do so. The amendment allows the State Supreme Judicial Court, with the approval of a two-thirds vote of the House and Senate, to appoint the President of the Senate, or if that office is vacant, the speaker of the House to act as Governor or declare the office vacant.

This amendment will allow the Governor to certify to the Chief Justice that he will be unable to act as Governor. Again, the President of the Senate or Speaker of the House takes over the duties of the Governor. When the Secretary of State has reason to believe that the Governor is unable to discharge his duties, he may so certify to the Supreme Judicial Court, giving his reasons. The Governor is notified and a hearing is held before the Court and a majority of the Court decide if the Governor is able to govern or not. If the Governor is not able to govern, the President of the Senate or Speaker of the House takes over.

Proposed Constitutional Amendment No. 4
"Shall the Constitution be amended as proposed by a Resolution of the Legislature to abolish the Executive Council and to Reassign its Constitutional Powers to the Governor and the Legislature, to Eliminate the Office of Notary Public as a Constitutional Office and to Prohibit Appointment of Legislators to Offices Requiring Approval of the Legislature for Appointment?"

Intent and Content—
This amendment abolishes the Executive Council and reassigns its powers to the Governor and the Legislature. The office of notary public will no longer be considered a constitutional office and appointments of all judicial officers except judges of probate and justices of the peace will be made by the Governor with the confirmation of a legislative committee, which is then reviewed by the Senate. Legislators may not be appointed to any civil office of profit which requires the approval of the Legislature for appointment. The Governor now has the power to pardon, the power to remove civil officers by impeachment or formal petition from the legislature; the power to remove a sheriff who is not performing his duties and appoint another in his place; and to fill a vacancy in the office of Attorney General subject to confirmation as required for Justices of the Supreme Judicial Court.

Proposed Constitutional Amendment No. 5

"Shall the Constitution be amended as proposed by a resolution of the Legislature to provide for annual sessions of the Legislature with limits on the matters which may be considered in the second regular session of each biennium and to change the date of the convening of the Legislature?"

Intent and Content—
This amendment provides that the Legislature shall meet annually in regular session beginning on the first Wednesday after the first Tuesday in January. However, the business of the second regular session shall be limited to budgetary matters; legislation sponsored by the Governor; legislation of an emergency nature sponsored by the Legislature; legislation referred to committees for study and report by the Legislature in the first regular session; and legislation presented to the Legislature by direct initiative petition of the electors. The Legislature will also enact limits on the length of the first and second regular sessions.

TREE FARM AWARD GOES TO BETHEL COMPANY

company woods crews and Robert Crockett supervises company roads and trucking. Charles Burnham of Hanover handles all boundary line work.

The Chadbourne Family goes back 11 generations to where William Chadbourne, a carpenter, sailed to America in 1634 and built a water powered sawmill with 22 up-and-down saws near Kittery. Generations following were carpenters, sawmill and forest owners. Phil Chadbourne, founder of the present company, became a tree farm member in 1959 with 9,000 acres under management. Then, in 1973, he sold his land to the Company, which now totals 33,000 acres.

The Company excels in white pine management and an intensive program of weeding, thinning, pruning, tree planting, timber harvest and forest recreation is being accomplished. During each of the last five years, the Company has harvested 3.5 million board feet of timber and over 5,000 cords of bolt and pulpwood. The general policy is to remove poor-quality trees to give quality pines and hardwoods more sunlight for faster growth.

The Company has several well-managed forest plantations, totaling over 500 acres, some of which were planted as early as 1910. During the last five years approximately 24,000 trees have been pruned to a height of 17 feet which will produce a high yield of knot-free lumber for the mill in later years. Timber stand improvement during this period exceeded 250 acres. Mechanical thinning in pole size white pine was done on 15 acres. Phil Chadbourne emphasizes the TSI program by saying, "Our family has been doing timber stand improvement since before 1915 when my father released white pine by removing red maple and gray birch. Today these areas are growing high quality sawlogs. Much of our pine land has been cut for logs three times in the past 30 years and is presently well stocked with merchantable timber and young trees."

In the last five years 15½ miles of woods roads have been constructed and 39 miles repaired. This work is accomplished using Company equipment and labor.

The Company maintains well-marked boundary lines and has an excellent continuous forest inventory system for all their forestland. Recreational use of forest land is important in Maine and the Chadbournes have leased approximately 2,000 acres for this use. The Papoose Pond Camping area, a part of the leased acreage near Watford, is an excellent example of forest management and recreational activities on the same area. All Company land is open to recreational activities including snowmobiling and horseback riding.

Experimental work is yet another part of the overall program. This includes planting hybrid seedlings, white pine weevil control, forest fertilization, and white pine management techniques.

Foresters from throughout the world have visited the Chadbourne forests. As Phil Chadbourne says, "These visitations are a two way street. We learn from them and they learn from us." Foresters from several foreign countries, including Finland, Turkey and China are among the visitors.

The Chadbourne Tree Farm is an example of proud people believing in the future of Maine and America and the need to think ahead to what future generations will inherit. Well managed forests are the key to a prosperous future and the P. H. Chadbourne Company in Bethel, Maine believe wholeheartedly in what they are doing, and are doing it well.

The American Tree Farm Program is sponsored nationally by the American Forest Institution of Washington, D. C. In Maine the program is a cooperative effort by various professional foresters of forest industry, Maine Forest Service, and the Maine Forest Products Council. The program seeks to increase the productivity and usefulness of forest lands and recognize those individuals who manage their lands under scientific forest management principles. In Maine there are 1,070 certified tree farms with 4,202,432 acres under high quality management.

After 11 generations the Chadbournes & their trees are still going strong.

Three hundred and forty years ago the good ship Pied Cow landed near Kittery, at the southern tip of what was to be the State of Maine. The vessel brought from England, among other colonists, one William Chadbourne, a carpenter from Devonshire. Chadbourne and two other artisans skilled in woodworking were there because they had contracted with the English proprietor of Piscataqua Plantation to live on his land and improve it, specifically to build a sawmill and a corn mill.

This was the genesis of what was probably America's first sawmill, and the opening chapter of the long, interwoven story of the Maine forests and the Chadbourne family. As we shall see, both are still going strong.

The Chadbourne epic began in 1633 with the contract, explicit yet demonstrating mutual trust and respect. Fortunately it has survived. It was drawn between Capt. John Mason of London, the landowner (who had received his substantial grant from King Charles I) and the three carpenters: Chadbourne, James Wall and John Goddard. The three agreed to work for Mason for five years, during which time each had the use of 10 acres for an annual rent of a bushel of corn, to be paid "yearly at the feast of Saint Michael Tharchungell." At the end of the five-year-term, they would be their own men. Each would be entitled to 40 more acres, and for the whole 50, he would pay Mason or his heirs three bushels of corn a year.

During the five years, they were to "fell and cut tumber and make and build hawses, mills and other things"—including the sawmill, "which shall be made and sett up in good sufficient and workman like sorte and manner."

There was an abundance of pine to provide timber for the mill, but Mason agreed to supply "all iron worke that shall be fitting thereto."

Chadbourne, Wall and Goddard in due course built, on the Great Works River, near Kittery, a water-powered mill with 22 up-and-down saws.

As they agreed in the contract, they "used and employed the mill for the most benefit, comoditie and advantage" of John Mason.

He did his part too: the men were to be allowed to keep three fourths of the output of the sawmill and of the timber they felled on Mason's plantation, "whereof a just accompt shall be from tyme to tyme kept and made to the said John Mason, his agents or assigns."

Capt. Mason did not live out the five-year term, but the men in Maine honored the contract. In 1652, James Wall, in a deposition, recalled how, 18 years before, they "did build upp at the fali there (called by the Indian name of Ashbenbedick) for the use of Captaine Mason and our selves, one sawe mill and one stampinge mill for corne . . . And we has peaceable and quite possession of that lande for the use of Captaine Mason afforesaide."

The Chadbourne family, from this beginning, was off and running. William, his son Humphrey, and numerous descendants depended on the forest for their livelihood, mostly in Maine, though some branched out to the South and West.

Humphrey Chadbourne, like his father a carpenter, and a prominent Maine pioneer, built the famous "Great House" at Strawberry Bank, which was first a defense against Indians, then a trading post. The site, just across the Piscataqua River, later became the nucleus of Portsmouth, New Hampshire. Humphrey had extensive farmlands and forestlands, logging camps and sawmills. He died a rich man.

Later came other notable Chadbournes, including one legendary 18th century family of gigantic size and strength known all over New England for their capacity for eating, drinking and working. The tale is still told of how James and Daniel Chadbourne, while building a sawmill, and lacking other motive power, picked up a 30-foot, 18-inch-square beam and set it up on the supports.

Sturdy, obviously, is the word for Chadbournes. As sturdy as the tall, straight pines of Maine that gave them their livelihood.

The tradition lives on. A tenth-generation Chadbourne, Philip, like his forebears, operates a lumber mill and maintains forestland 100 miles north of Kittery, where it all began. And his sons are active in the business.

It wasn't in Capt. Mason's contract, but it might well have been, as the centuries have proved: "use the trees, but wisely, and think to the future, that there may always be trees for those to come."

STATE POLICE WARN OF HALLOWEEN "GHOSTS"

The Maine State Police reminds motorists that "ghosts"—youngsters out celebrating Halloween—may be haunting the roads during the evening of the last of this month.

"Goblins in white and witches in vari-colored costumes will be parading from home to home in their neighborhood," continued Col. Donald E. Nichols, Chief of the Maine State Police. "In some instances, they will be accompanied by parents; others will be out on their own. In the excitement of the evening, they are likely to forget, now and then, to practice the ordinary rules of caution in crossing roads and walking on the roadways which skirt urban developments."

Urging motorists to "double their caution to compensate for increased hazards presented by Halloween," Col. Nichols emphasized also that visibility is greatly reduced at this time of year by earlier darkness and that frequently the ability to see is restricted by rain. In this latter connection, the Maine State Police stress the importance of the proper functioning of windshield wiper blades as vital to road safety in bad weather.

Should proper functioning headlights reveal "strangely-garbed creatures," concluded the Maine State Police Chief, "reduce speed and be extremely alert and careful. Just one youngster along the roadway may forget all his safety training for just one moment and dart into the traffic stream. Your first-class equipment, your extra alertness, and your extreme caution could very well save a life."

CRIME SPIRAL ATTACKED BY GARTLEY IN AUBURN SPEECH

Speaking to the Maine Police Chiefs Association in Auburn, Secretary of State Mark Gartley called for more respect for the law to stop the deadly spiral of crime in Maine.

Gartley said, "We have been and will continue to be caught in a deadly spiral of crime. The less respect, the more crimes. Then the necessity to investigate these additional crimes, prosecute those accused and punish those convicted, places an even greater strain on the already overburdened capacities of police, prosecutors, public defenders, courts and penal institutions. As a consequence of this overload, the percentage of offenders apprehended, prosecuted and sentenced is further reduced. This spiral leads to less respect for the law and the commission of even more crimes."

Gartley called for more citizen involvement with enforcement, speedy trials and certain punishment to break this spiral.

"Our citizens have a right to demand sure justice in our society. It is our duty to guarantee this demand."

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Burris are leaving Friday for their winter home in Deland, Fla.

LEGION & AUXILIARY LAUNCH CANCER FUND DRIVE

The American Legion and American Legion Auxiliary have offered to help the American Cancer Society in a major cooperative effort to "wipe out cancer in our lifetime."

At his press conference prior to the recently concluded National Convention in Minneapolis, National Commander James M. Wagonseller announced a new and dramatic fund raising drive by the American Legion, which previously was approved by the National Executive Committee.

Cancer is the common foe of all mankind and inflicts far greater casualties on the people of the United States than all the wars, foreign and domestic, in which our country has been involved. In this decade alone—10 million Americans under medical care; 6½ million new cases; 3½ million deaths. Cause? CANCER!

Today, one out of three Americans who contract cancer is being saved. To reduce those odds will require costly research.

The initial thrust of the joint cooperative effort will be an intensive educational and fund-raising campaign among all members of the American Legion and Auxiliary, Legion Posts, Auxiliary Units, and Legion and Auxiliary Departments.

This great humanitarian effort by the Legion and Auxiliary parallels both organizations' continued devotion and dedication to the welfare and best interest of all people, including their own members.

Checks and money orders should be made payable to: American Legion Cancer Fund. Your contribution is tax deductible.

Mail contributions to: American Legion Cancer Fund, P. O. Box 1055, Indianapolis, Ind. 46206

With the help of Legionnaires and Auxiliary members, we will "wipe out cancer in our lifetime."

SUNDAY RIVER SNARES WINN AS SNOW SERVICES DIRECTOR

Sunday River has made a big catch. A man who teaches and entertains simultaneously or, more specifically, a man who skis while he sings, has been appointed Director of Snow Services at this Bethel ski resort for the 1975-76 ski season.

John Winn, well-known skier, humorist, writer and entertainer, will assume the position Nov. 1, announced Les Otten, general manager of the resort.

"Hauling in entrepreneur John Winn is like catching a 100-pound tuna," said Otten. "Now that we've caught him we're going to use his talents in a number of ways."

Winn's duties to date at Sunday River include supervising the resort's ski school, ski patrol, junior racing and master's programs, and after ski week entertainment programs.

Also under Winn's jurisdiction this winter will be coordination of the NCAA National Men's Alpine Championship to be held at Sunday River in March. Assisting Winn will be co-directors of racing Bob Harkins and Tim Laughlin.

Since 1973 Winn has directed the ski school and handled public relations and promotions for Telluride, Colo., ski resort. Folks in Maine may remember him from a few years back as "E. R. Whipple" an alias he assumed while working at Sugarloaf Mountain from 1970 to 1973.

Associated with the ski industry since 1969, Winn began his ski career as a ski mechanic, dishwasher, and bartender, before finally achieving his forte as a fine ski instructor and performing artist.

He has traveled extensively with choral, opera and musical theatre groups and appeared as tenor soloist at Carnegie Hall and Town Hall. In the sixties he did some folk singing and joined on stage such well known artists as Judy Collins, Peter, Paul and Mary, and Pete Seeger.

John still skis competitively and is known for combining his skiing expertise with a Down East style humor with guitar accompaniment to keep his teaching crew and ski-week guests swinging on and off their skis.

NOVA TO OFFER TRAINING PROGRAM IN OPERATION OF WASTE WATER TREATMENT

NOVA (Northern Oxford County Vocational Area) will offer a training program in the operation of waste water treatment plants in response to a request from the Oxford Paper Company at Rumford. The course is scheduled to start early in December.

While the program will be oriented toward industrial waste water treatment plant operation, it will also provide an understanding of municipal sewage treatment plant operation.

Successful completion of the program will meet some of the requirements for certification as an operator by the Department of Environmental Protection of the State of Maine.

The course will be offered in two sections, meeting on successive weeks, to accommodate people on shift work. A class offered one week to group A will be repeated the following week for group B, affording any student from group A who was unable to attend the first class an opportunity to make up the following week with group B, and vice versa. Group A will meet on Thursday evenings and group B will meet on Wednesday of the following week. Classes will meet three hours a night, one night a week for 20 weeks.

The curriculum will be built around nationally recognized materials developed by Sacramento State College. Personnel from Oxford Paper Company and the State Departments of Educational and Cultural Services and Environmental Protection are cooperating with NOVA in developing and presenting the course.

A registration fee of $5.00 will be charged and each student will be expected to purchase course materials at a cost of $25.00.

Anyone desiring further information about the program may contact the NOVA Office at 364-3769.

STATE LEGION OFFICIAL ATTACKS PROPOSALS ON VET EXEMPTIONS

Speaking before the joint session of the Oxford County Council, The American Legion and Auxiliary, held Tuesday evening, Oct. 21, at the Buckfield Grange Hall, State Adjutant Daniel E. Lambert, Orrington, called upon the legionnaires and auxiliary members in Maine to give leadership to a program to reject the Maine Municipal Association's study on property tax exemptions.

The State Adjutant told the joint session that the recent changes in the laws governing property tax exemptions for veterans were causing hardships for many vets and widows in the Pine Tree State. Lambert said that the "veterans of Maine were sold down the river by the last session of the Maine Legislature." He cited changes in veterans preference, downgrading property exemptions and other considerations given to veterans in Maine.

The Legion's chief administrative officer leveled his strongest attack on the recent study released by the MMA and UMO dealing with the status of property tax exemptions on churches, schools, veterans and fraternal halls and non-profit groups in Maine. Lambert told the Oxford County Council that "unless the veterans stood up to the attack on veterans benefits that the next session of the Legislature could do even more damage to veterans programs."

Lambert urged the veterans to organize across the state and by action of the Joint Veterans Coordinating Committee headed by Arnold Leavitt, Auburn, take action to prevent the erosion of veterans benefits in the Pine Tree State.

The State Adjutant, a former state commander, also outlined revisions in the procedures of the department headquarters in Waterville to open the lines of communications between all facets of the Legion and Auxiliary in Maine. He cited gains in membership to point up the special emphasis on "grass roots" communications. County Commander Raymond Tripp, Bethel, presided at the meeting which saw awards going to the West Peru and Locke Mills Legion Posts for outstanding membership efforts. Past Department Commander Vito DeFilipp, Mexico, made the presentations and praised the posts for membership recruitment efforts.

Bethel Head Start

HEAD-START WEEK IS OBSERVED

This week is Head Start Week. What better way for us to observe it than to make the people of our town aware of not only our program, but also the people who work for Head Start here in Bethel.

Our roving reporter, Louise Chapman, has done an interview with teacher aide, Sandra Savage. We hope Sandra's story will give insight into the type of person that helps make Head Start what it is today.

Sandra and her husband Gary and their six children live in Milton Plantation. All six of their children, ranging in ages from nine to 14 attended Head Start.

The first to attend was Keith, who belonged to the Summer Program held in Manchester, N. H., where Sandra started her work in 1965.

When the Savages moved to Maine in 1969, Sandra started her work with Head Start here as an Outreach worker. Sandra feels all her children have benefited from Head Start. She feels they acquired a self awareness and a more personable attitude by attending Head Start. She feels that Head Start gave her many advantages she would not have had otherwise.

Sandra did not have a high school diploma when she started working, but through Head Start she received her GED in 1971, and is now enrolled in the University of Maine where she will be entering her junior year in the fall of '76.

Sandra, now in her 8th year of work for Head Start feels that her work has given her more self-confidence in speaking up for what she believes in. She feels most people have a good feeling towards the work being done for Head Start children, and for people involved in the program. Sandra believes Head Start has changed quite a lot in her eight years of work for the program. It's changed definitely for the better she feels.

Head Start needs and appreciates workers like Sandra. A good staff is as important to the children's attitudes and behavior as it is in any school environment.

STATE BOARD OF EDUCATION
APPROVES PHASE II PLAN

Meeting at Augusta on Thursday, Oct. 16, the State Board of Education approved by unanimous vote the NOVA Phase II Plan as presented by the Cooperative Board of the Northern Oxford Vocational Area, representing Region Nine were Philip Morales, Chairman of the Board, Louis Thibodeau, Member of the Cooperative Board representing Rumford-Hanover, and William Dunton, Director of NOVA. The proposal was accompanied by a letter of recommendation from H. Sawin Millett, Commissioner of Educational and Cultural Services.

The Phase II plan was developed by the Cooperative Board, incorporating the recommendations of an Ad Hoc Citizens Advisory Committee on Long-Range Planning. The Committee met weekly throughout the summer months to receive input from municipal officials, public leaders, and citizens throughout the Region.

The Phase II Plan, as approved will include instruction in the areas of: heavy equipment, construction and maintenance, metal working, wood products, food service, distributive education, cooperative education and allied health occupations. The Cooperative Board and the director will be naming Craft Committees to assist in the development of curriculum in each of these areas.

The Cooperative Board will retain design services to determine the most economical and efficient way to provide facilities in which to conduct training programs. At the suggestion of the Ad Hoc Advisory Committee, the feasibility of three alternative proposals will be studied;

- 1) to add on to existing school facilities,
- 2) to construct a vocational training facility,
- 3) to adapt an existing structure for use as a training center.

Based on the findings of these studies, a concept design proposal will be submitted to the State Board of Education for its approval in the Spring of 1976.

NOVA is presently offering courses in machine shop practice and building trades, in facilities rented from the Rumford School Department. There are presently 110 students enrolled in these programs. When adequate facilities are available, it is anticipated that as many as 400 students will be enrolled in vocational education throughout the Region.

— Mrs. Collette Morgan, Corrae. —
There may be other times as good as late October to go out and walk and to see the beauty around you but there certainly isn't a better one. Ruth, Fay and I walked a country road this week, new to me, with the feel of the warm sun in an autumn sky. There was the rustle of leaves as the busy squirrels hurried with acorns and beechnuts. We saw them as we, too, scuffled in the leaves where stand the maples in their pools of leaf gold.

It's easier now to look at a stout tree and see the beauty of it. Far across the valleys we can see October's horizon clearly where the frosts came creeping down.

It was a day to wander by a sparkling pond, reflecting in its depth the passing clouds. We wondered, at times, if it were June not October for we discovered strawberry blossoms by the edge of a brook as it wound its way into the quiet woods and it was warm enough to remove our sweaters.

Have you ever gone on a picnic in the autumn of the year? Ruth and I did this week near the Cascade Trail. After coming down the trail we sat on a log where bushes were stripped and bird's nests bare. We could hear in the distance the sound of the cascades and see the water ripple at our feet. The air was clear and still. The ferns had not yet turned tawny but were green as in summer.

We looked up to the great cliff, the "Eyebrow" and could hardly make ourselves believe that its very fall we took a climb to its very top and then down the trail at the foot of which we now sat. Only from below is its magnitude impressive, a mountain of solid stone. The surface of the cliff, full of sharp lines and tiny surface appear as if some giant had chiseled here since the beginning of time. That was my last hike of 1974.

We both love sounds in the quiet: the shrill of the locusts; the faint chorus of frogs from out the gravel pit or the far off swamps; the clamor of the katydids; the dry rattle of grasshoppers' wings among the grasses, the haunting hoot of an owl at night, the song of the thrush, the strident cry of the kingbird, or just a picnic in the autumn beside a little brook, eating sandwiches and fruit where we can listen and look.

"The swaying trees sigh contentment to the sky; Ceaseless flow of murmuring water soothes The harried heart and hurried feet, soft music.... Song of the wild, peace for my soul This I find,....at the bend of the river." —Arthur Weber

Not many places are more impressive than on the road through Grafton Notch and Newry where there is a rise from farms to mountains. In its swift course the Bear River plunges over many ledges, low and high. We stopped to spend a few moments by the sylvan pools which have worn ledges into strange formations. We were seeking the horse-shoe.

It's a broad and pretty valley along the Androscoggin River down to meet Bethel's beauty as it flows by the edge of the village.

So passes October with autumn colors on moss and brilliant bushes still brightly contrasted with the fleecy clouds and blue sky. This carpet presents unforgettable delicacy and unique charm as it covers our State of Maine.

He had been a summer resident of Bryant Pond and had been active in the Woodstock Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Bacon was leader of the Bryant Pond Club in Boston and the work he has done boosting his home town has been legendary. His newspaper articles have been well read and appreciated.

VETERANS DAY

With the nation's celebration of its Bicentennial now in full swing, the observance of Veterans Day 1975 takes on even greater significance than that usually associated with this patriotic holiday. For today's veterans symbolize the same willingness displayed by the Minuteman of 200 years ago to answer their country's call to arms to defend a lofty ideal.

Two hundred years ago, the Minutemen took up arms and won for us the foundation of individual liberty. Today, there are some 26 million veterans—men and women—who also have served our country with honor and valor. They have met the highest obligation of their citizenship—service in the uniform of their country in time of war.

To the chapters of history written at Valley Forge and Yorktown, today's veterans have added their own written in thousands of obscure places throughout the world—Chateau Thierry, Belleau Wood, Guadalcanal, Omaha Beach, Inchon, Pork Chop Hill, the Mekong Delta and the Au Shau Valley.

Their courage, their devotion, and their sacrifice have earned our earnest respect, our highest admiration, and our heartfelt gratitude.

But service to their country did not end with the exchange of military garb for civilian muffs. Upon their return to civilian life, America's war veterans have demonstrated an exemplary stability and responsibility in our society, reflecting their great respect for the heritage of their citizenship and their great desire to work for the betterment of community, state and nation.

On this Veteran's Day 1975, we salute all veterans of our community in appreciation of their service in both war and peace. Let's observe this holiday with a reaffirmation of our pride in America and make the occasion truly "A Bicentennial Salute to Service."

As a positive expression of that reaffirmation of pride, let's see the flag of the United States of America proudly displayed by every household and business firm.

WINTER CARNIVAL PLANNING SESSION HELD LAST THURSDAY EVENING

At the 1976 Winter Carnival Planning Session last Thursday evening, concern was expressed that area restaurants would be unable to serve the numbers of people brought into the area by the NCAA's, the Hang-Gliding competition, and other Winter Carnival activities. If there are any service clubs which would like to take advantage of this opportunity to raise funds by putting on a public supper, please contact Barbara Douglass (824-2785) or Maggie Philippon (824-2890) before Nov. 7.

The Carnival will extend from Feb. 27 to March 7. It is hoped to give as many groups as possible an opportunity to participate. By contacting the Winter Carnival Committee now a schedule can be arranged so groups will not compete with one another on the same evening—and perhaps equally as important your organization's efforts will be included in printed advertising that the committee will have available as soon as snow starts bringing winter-sports enthusiasts to Bethel.

COHEN WARNS OF INCREASING RURAL CRIME PROBLEM

Congressman Bill Cohen, touring the State Police Criminal Justice Academy in Waterville Saturday, warned that crime is becoming an increasingly serious problem for rural states, including Maine.

"We in Maine have always felt we had greater freedom and greater individuality than people in the great metropolises of the United States," Cohen told a class of Police cadets. "We believe that the basic respect for the beauty of life and the gifts of God that we preserved in Maine somehow protected us from the tribulations of urban America."

Cohen said recent FBI figures show that crime is increasing faster in rural America than any other part of the nation. He said statistics for Maine show that in the first three months of this year alone there were 7 murders, 10 rapes, 89 robberies and 368 assaults in the State. He said there were 3,445 burglaries and 4,182 cases of larceny reported to the Police.

"While crime has still not reached the levels of more urbanized States, this kind of serious crime is intolerable," Cohen said.

Cohen said the House Judiciary Committee on which he serves, is now considering legislation to revise the Federal criminal code. "I am hopeful this legislation will, in its final form, contain provisions both for swift and sure punishments for those who break our Federal laws and provisions for the innovative rehabilitation programs needed to turn law-breakers into law-abiding citizens," Cohen said.

The Maine lawmaker said the new Uniform Reporting System instituted earlier this year in Maine should help Police in the State determine where crimes are committed and how they can be prevented.

PREPARED CHILDBIRTH CLASSES TO BEGIN FALL SERIES NOV. 3

The basic premise of the Prepared Childbirth Organization of Rumford as it begins another Fall series of classes on Nov. 3, is to prepare expectant parents for the joyous birth of their child. Classes will be held on six consecutive Monday evenings from 7-9 p. m. at the Rumford Community Hospital cafeteria Nov. 3, 10, 17, 24, Dec. 1, and 8. All women in their third trimester of pregnancy are invited to attend the classes with their husbands, a friend, or alone.

The format of the six week series will focus on body-building exercises, relaxation techniques, and precise breathing patterns geared toward providing the expectant mother with the tools for a healthy rewarding labor and delivery free of the usual discomfort so long associated with childbirth. Through constant conditioning and practice, husbands and wives will learn how to work as an effective team in bringing their child into the world, each an active participant in the birth process.

A library of books on all facets of pregnancy, breast feeding, and other areas of mothering and fathering is available for couples to read and enjoy as well as several books on prepared childbirth that couples are encouraged to read. A film entitled "The Story of Eric" will be shown, a tour of the maternity floor conducted for the parents and a doctor or nurse will speak on anesthesia.

All couples interested in attending the classes should contact Louise Stickney 361-4241, bring with them to class a pen or pencil, two pillows and a blanket, and wear comfortable clothes.

Instructors Louise Stickney, Gloria Buckingham, Cindi Gaudin and Sandi Chipman have all discovered the beauty and benefits of delivering their children by the prepared method and hope to share the values of their experiences with others. They look forward to preparing as many couples as possible for the birth-day of their child that will celebrate from the first breath as a family, as well as individual women who wish to experience a labor and delivery with knowledge and excited anticipation instead of fear.
